Instructions to Contributors

The Auk publishes original reports on the biology of birds. Appropriate topics include documentation, analysis, and interpretation of laboratory and field studies, theoretical or methodological developments, and reviews of information or ideas. Authors are encouraged to write papers from the perspective of general concepts and theories, and to consider the relevance of their findings to taxa in addition to birds. The Auk publishes a color cover with each issue; authors are encouraged to submit suitable color illustrations. Contributions are welcomed throughout the world but must be written in English. Submissions must be made electronically online through Rapid Review at www.rapidreview.com. Suitable electronic text file formats include MS Word, WordPerfect, RTF, PDF, PostScript or PDF from TeX or LaTeX. Suitable graphic formats include TIFF, EPS, PostScript, PDF, and PowerPoint. Mixed text and graphics are acceptable in PostScript, PDF, and MS Word or WordPerfect with embedded graphics formats. For more detailed instructions please visit <http://www.aou.org/aou/checklist.html>. Paying close attention to detail will help expedite the processing of your manuscript. For assistance with the Rapid Review system, please contact the Editorial Office. Individuals with limited or no access to electronic submission should contact the Editor directly.
