ANNUAL THANKS TO REVIEWERS

Thank you to the reviewers of the 2017 Condor, volume 119

We are now concluding our fourth full year as The Condor: Ornithological Applications. This has been an exciting year for us; we became the most highly cited journal in ornithology in the first year for which our impact factor was calculated entirely on the new format. We are publishing great papers that are getting noticed. Peer reviewers are the foundation of our success and, even more importantly, of our scientific integrity. Despite little personal gain, 273 colleagues lent their expertise for the benefit of our journal and our discipline during the period that volume 119 was in preparation. Individuals identified with asterisks were especially valuable; they reviewed two, three, or even four manuscripts. On behalf of The Condor: Ornithological Applications, I thank all of them for their timely and conscientious work. Managing reviewers is mostly the job of our dedicated Associate Editors, whose names appear on the journal's masthead. Their work, along with the efforts of our two fine Editors and the tireless professional staff at the AOS Publications Office, allows us to be proud of the journal we collectively produce.
