

Acknowledgements

The authors and editor wish to thank CSIRO Publishing's Ann Crabb for advice and encouragement, and Briana Elwood for her thorough work in producing the book, and the following colleagues for reviewing various sections (or, in some cases, providing substantial advice):

Rob Adlard, Queensland Museum Brisbane; Pål Arne Bjørn, Institute for Fisheries and Aquaculture, Tromsø; David Blair, James Cook University, Townsville; Geoff Boxshall, Natural History Museum, London; Dan Brooks, University of Toronto; Janine Caira, University of Connecticut; Doug Causey, Museum of Comparative Zoology, Harvard; Leslie Chisholm, South Australian Museum; Jane Cook, St Lawrence Centre Environment; Isabelle Cote, University of East Anglia; Murray Dailey, Marine Mammal Center, Sausalito, California; Bengt Finstad, Norwegian Institute for Nature Research, Trondheim; Mark Freeman, University of Tokyo; Terry Galloway, University of Manitoba; Boyko Georgiev, Bulgarian Academy of Sciences, Sofia; Ray Gibson, Liverpool John Moores University; Craig Hayward, University of Tasmania; Peter Heuch, Biologisk Institut, Oslo; Eric Hoberg, USDA, Beltsville, MD; Jens Chr. Holst, Institute for Marine Research, Bergen; Armand Kuris, University of California Santa Barbara; Jiří Lom, Czech Academy of Science; Greg Maguire, Curtin University Perth; Gary McClelland, Gulf Fisheries Centre, New Brunswick; Tom Mattis, Shaw Environmental and Infrastructure, Knoxville, Tennessee; Jason Melendy, Department of Fisheries and Oceans, Gulf Fisheries Centre; Libby Moodie, University of New England, Armidale; Lena Measures, Fisheries and Oceans Canada, Maurice Lamontagne Institute; Christian Melaun, University of Giessen; Jason Melendy, Department of Fisheries and Oceans, Gulf Fisheries Centre; EO Murdy, Office of International Science and Engineering, National Science Foundation, Arlington, VA; Steve Nadler, University of California, Davis; Christian Neumann, Berlin Natural History Museum; Barbara Nowak, University of Tasmania; Peter O'Donoghue, University of Queensland; Kazuo Ogawa, University of Tokyo; Kim Overstreet, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory; Ricardo Palma, Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa, Wellington; Sylvie Pichelin, University of Queensland; TW Pietsch, School of Fisheries, University of Washington, Seattle; IC Potter, Murdoch University, Perth; Robert Poulin, University of Otago; Heather Proctor, University of Alberta; Jack Randall, Bishop Museum Hawai'i; Greg Rouse, South Australian Museum and University of Adelaide; Klaus Ruetzler, Smithsonian Institution, Washington; Jan Sauer, University of Giessen; Christine Schoenberg, University of Queensland; Jeffrey Shields, Virginia Institute of Marine Science; Frank Stephens, Curtin University, Perth; Horst Taraschewski, University Karlsruhe; Anke Treuner, University of Tokyo; Jean-Paul Trilles, Université Montpellier-2; Wolfgang Vogelbein, Virginia Institute of Marine Science; John Walker, University of Sydney; Stephen Wesche, Queensland Museum, Brisbane; Ian Whittington, South Australian Museum. An anonymous reviewer checked the entire manuscript.

The School of Environmental Sciences and Resources Management, University of New England, kindly made resources available to the Editor.