The author is indebted to many people for providing photographs, information on types, and suggestions for the style of the book.

First I would like to thank CSIRO Publishing and Nick Alexander for allowing the author a maximum of breadth regarding style and content and for helpful comments during the preparation of the text.

Mr Peter Hudson of the South Australian Museum provided photographs of the types of several of Tepper's species which have never been illustrated before. These helped in assigning names to some common species in southern Australia.

CSIRO Entomology has allowed access to the Australian National Insect Collection which contains the bulk of the species described from Australia. Mr Eric Hines has been helpful in providing access to scanning electron micrographs made by the author when he was employed by CSIRO.

Dr Darryl Gwynne has made helpful comments. The late Dr Fer Willemsse provided a copy of Brunner's rare Additamenta, a publication necessary for anyone seeking to unravel taxonomic problems in the Phaneropterinae.

Mr Martyn Robinson, of the Australian Museum, Sydney, has been a source of information and his contacts with biologists have provided relevant information for several species.

Mr Paul Brock has been a source of information and encouragement.

Mr Ian Menkins has provided meticulous observations on the biology of the Mountain Katydid, Acripeza reticulata.

Mr Patrick Honan of the Melbourne Zoo has provided some helpful comments regarding the biology of several species under his care in the live insect exhibit.

Jack and Sue Hasenpusch have presented the author with a continuous stream of interesting katydids for more than two decades and have helped with suggestions and encouragement.

Gary Wilson has helped with comments of a botanical nature on habitats and ecology.

Finally I would like to thank my friend and colleague Mr You Ning Su, CSIRO Entomology, for many favours and friendship over many years.
